

Senate Leaders Deny Rights Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights bill arrived in the Senate Monday, along with denials from Democratic and Republican leaders that any deals have been made to water it down to head off a Southern filibuster.

The comments came in response to weekend statements by Republican Sens. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, who said they suspect the administration has made a secret deal with Southern senators on the civil rights and tax cut bills.

Belgian Art Treasure Stolen

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — One of the world's great art treasures — the painting "Negroes' Heads" by the Flemish artist Peter Paul Rubens — was stolen Monday from the Brussels Museum of Ancient Art.

The museum conservator, Philippe Roberts-Jones, said he doubted that the burglars could sell the work because it is too well known, particularly in Belgium where the painting is reproduced on the back of 500-franc notes.

Roberts-Jones estimated the value of the work, painted in the 17th Century, at about one million dollars.

The art theft, one of a mounting number in Europe and the United States in recent years, was the third from Brussels museums in the past six months.

Baker Called In

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators investigating the outside business dealings of former Senate aide Bobby Baker have subpoenaed him to produce his records Wednesday morning.

Three Democrats File For Primary

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania Democrats faced a primary battle for the U.S. Senate nomination after three major contenders filed petitions Monday to seek the post.

Those who filed are Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno, 60, organization-backed candidate, Milton J. Shapp, 52, Philadelphia industrialist, and David B. Roberts, Allegheny County prothonotary.

Still to be heard from as a possible major contender was Genevieve Blatt, Secretary of Internal Affairs, who has been circulating petitions. She said she would announce her intentions Tuesday.

Fix Denied In Hoffa Case

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Businessman Nicholas J. "Two of Huntington, W. Va., flatly denied Monday government testimony linking him with alleged efforts to fix James Hoffa's conspiracy trial jury.

"I had no concern with the Nashville case whatsoever," Two, 39, said at one point.

Two, one of five men on trial with Hoffa, International Teamsters Union president, on charges of trying to influence the jury which tried Hoffa in 1962 on a charge of accepting a $1 million payoff. That jury, in Nashville, deadlocked after three jurors were excused either before or during the trial on grounds that someone tried to contact them.

ICC Irked By Railroad Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission began to show its impatience Monday with the pace of the two-year-old New York Central-Pennsylvania Railroad merger case.

It allowed the railroads a requested two-month delay to June 1 in the deadline for filing new statements on the complex proceedings.

But Commissioner Kenneth H. Tuggles urged that no further delays be sought.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market averages posted record highs Monday as selected blue chips, airlines, savings-and-loans and tobacco advanced.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.63 to 796.19, topping the previous closing peak of 794.82 made Feb. 12.

Viet Cong Attacks Again

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Terrorists struck quickly again Monday night, after a bloody bombing of a U.S. movie theater, ambushing three American military men in a grenade attack in Saigon. One of the three was wounded slightly.

To cope with the rising tide of terror in this capital, U.S. and Vietnamese officials formed a joint security council to provide greater safety for Americans. U.S. Military Police guarded American schools, rode

Judge Raps Lawyer For News Story

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The judge in the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnap trial professed outrage Monday at publication of an out-of-court interview with a defense attorney, but denied a motion for a mistrial.

The judge left open, however, the possibility he would declare a mistrial later if he believed the jury had actually been influenced by newspaper accounts.

The motion was made by Charles E. Crouch Jr., attorney for defendant Barry Keenan, who said:

"We will be unable to fathom the repercussions such an article could have upon the jury. 'Your honor, it's as if my client were to stand up and say, 'I'm guilty,' and then cut his throat.'"

The surprise action came in the trial's eighth day with young Sinatra testifying for the third day, denying allegations that the affair was a publicity hoax.

People certainly are peculiar—they want the front of the bus, the back of the church, and the middle of the road.

Postoffice Declares War On Barking, Biting, Dogs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dogs, of America the jig's up! Come spring, the postman will have his day, with a push-button peppery spray.

It's called "Halt" and that is precisely the effect it is supposed to have on canines who like to gnaw on mailmen.

By spring, postmen will be sporting 115,000 1/2-ounce aerosol bombs of the stuff clipped to their belts and will be developing a fast-draw technique.

When the enemy hounds across the front yard to running, kicking and being chewed — can fire a jet spray of "Halt" into the face of his attacker.

The great hope of Postmaster General John A. Gronouski and his legions is that the dog will turn tail, hide, and never attack again.

Gronouski announced Monday that he has ordered nationwide use of the spray after three months of testing — reported 84 per cent successful — in Detroit, Baltimore, San Francisco, and Miami.

The spray is intended to put an end to the approximately 7,000 dog bites a year, which not only bedevil and injure carriers but also cost about one million dollars in lost work time, substitute pay, compensation and medical and hospital expenses.

The first 115,000 containers will cost about $90,000. The yellowish-orange spray contains 15 per cent pepper extract and 85 per cent mineral oil.

Testers said that while the animal will be uncomfortable for a short while after being sprayed, it will suffer no lasting effects to its eyes or the rest of its face.

$2,250,000 Fieldhouse Will Be Built At ESSC

EAST STROUDSBURG — Construction of new field house will be started on the campus of East Stroudsburg State College within the next two months, Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, college president, said yesterday.

He said a meeting for final approval of the field house plans will be held in Harrisburg during March.

The field house, estimated at $2,250,000, was originally approved in 1961 and the project funds were approved in 1963. Final approval this spring will initiate construction "of the much-needed building."

The building will be located on the corner of Normal and Smith Sts., will contain 116,364 square feet of space devoted to health and physical education activities. The functional building was designed by the architectural firm of Rinker, Kiefer and Rake of Stroudsburg.

In addition to the main gymnasium area with a 220 yard indoor track and basketball courts, other features include a swimming pool, squash and handball courts, wrestling room, dance studio, weight lifting room, physical training and physical therapy rooms, a human performance laboratory and office space for the Health and Physical Education staff. Space has also been provided for classroom instruction in health and physical education.

Cyprus Turmoil Gun-Toting Diplomats

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Call them diplomats with guns. And like any referee, the Tommies have heard harsh words from both sides in the wrangling between Greek and Turkish communities on the island.

They wear the red beret and camouflage suit of the paratrooper, the green of the rifle brigade, or the blue of the Royal Air Force.

Four thousand strong, they try to keep the peace on bloody Cyprus through a combination of patience, discretion and good old-fashioned guts.

They are the British soldiers and airmen. One British soldier has fired a shot at anyone.

"We have been trained to fight," says one tough infantry captain. "The role of diplomat is a new one for us."

Time and again the British have thrust themselves between the two warring factions, or talked both sides out of killing each other.

"It's been a real fantastic job," one American official says.

Maj. Gen. Peter Young, commander of the British peace-keeping forces, told a news conference that since his troops began their policeman role seven weeks ago, they had been called out on 50 occasions to halt battles between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

He stressed that the need for outside assistance to help the British keep the peace is becoming "more vital each day."

"It is becoming more and more difficult to keep the peace if you are not in a position to fire and if you have no right to disarm or to arrest anyone," he said.

Here is an example: In Nicosia, tough Greek Cypriots crouch behind sandbags, in doorways and on roofs. The Turks are likewise dug in. There's a temporary lull in the firing. A British officer nonchalantly walks up to the leaders of one side and says:

"I say, chaps, these fellows across the way are awfully young and I'm afraid their inexperience and rashness might make this situation really bad. But you chaps are older, wiser and should set a good example."

They talk some more and the officer turns on his heel and returns to the other side.

"All right, boys, it's really up to you. You chaps are the youth of the island, tomorrow's leaders. You must set a good example. These fellows across the way are old, set in their ways. It's terribly difficult dealing with them."

Meany Backs Wheat Halt By Unions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Labor leader George Meany strongly endorsed Monday a threatened longshoremen's boycott of U.S. wheat shipments to the Soviet Union, but promised to help President Johnson try to resolve the dispute.

Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, said he would "approve any measure" including a boycott to insure that at least 50 per cent of the wheat is shipped on U.S. vessels.

But he added that Johnson personally asked his cooperation "and I agreed to try to find a settlement."

At a news conference after the opening of the AFL-CIO's annual executive council meeting, Meany blamed the wheat blowup on the administration's failure to live up to previous promises to ship half the grain on American vessels.

Dr. Koehler emphasized the pressing need for classrooms and staff office space. He stated that many staff members must share a desk in a shared office.

Demos Rap UC Bill GOP Urges Delay

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton met with Republican legislative leaders Monday night to urge prompt action on his controversial unemployment compensation program.

Details of the meeting were not revealed, but administration sources said Scranton expressed hope that the bills could be brought to a showdown vote before the April 28 primary.

Several legislative leaders have been quoted as saying the bills would be bottled up in committee until the primary.

At the same time legislative Democrats continued their attack on the program both in the House and Senate.

Sen. D. Elmer Hawbreaker, R-Franklin, chairman of the Labor and Industry Committee, said he may call additional public hearings on the program which was given an airing by a legislative task force last December.

However, he said he hoped to have the bill reported to the floor before the April 28 primary elections. His statement was contrary to predictions by other top Republicans that no action was expected until after the primary balloting.

Rep. Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia, a leader in the fight against the governor's program, said he welcomed the delay and that the Republicans were making a mistake.

"Time is going to run against you," Fineman said in a floor speech, "because by April 28 the people will know how bad this program is, because we are going to tell them."

Fineman and Rep. James J. A. Gallagher, D-Bucks, spent considerable time attacking the governor's proposal which is designed to stabilize the wobbly unemployment compensation fund.

In other action, the governor sent his eminent domain bill to the House.

One of the five subjects of a concurrent special session of the legislature, the eminent domain proposal will consolidate most of the varied laws dealing with the condemnation of private property for public uses.

In the regular session, which is limited to budgetary matters and constitutional amendments, the House approved and sent to the Senate $29 million in appropriations bills.

The House Appropriations Committee sent to the floor for a vote another $63 million worth of spending bills. They will be voted on next week.

The Senate, at its regular meeting, confirmed 95 appointments to a variety of offices made by Gov. Scranton.

Gallagher attacked the newspaper advertisements by the so-called "Committee on Jobs for Pennsylvanians" in favor of the Governor's UC proposals.

Ruby's Insanity Plea Rejected

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby's lawyers tried in vain Monday to kill the case against him at his very outset. They claimed insanity makes him unfit to stand trial for the murder of President Kennedy's accused assassin.

"This defendant does not have the mental capacity to stand trial," the defense argued in a motion to acquit Ruby without a jury trial. It was promptly denied.

No start was made at picking a jury in an abbreviated session in a courthouse 210 feet from the spot where the President was struck down by a sniper's bullet last Nov. 22. The trial resumes Tuesday.

Opening preliminaries delayed attempts to select a jury to try Ruby, accused of shooting Lee Harvey Oswald 48 hours after the president's assassination. The defense has predicted it will be impossible to impanel an impartial jury in Dallas because of prejudice against Ruby.

The trial was adjourned at 1:30 p.m. until 9 a.m. Tuesday so court officials could attend the funeral of former Dallas Mayor Robert L. Thornton, who died Friday night.

The 52-year-old defendant, operator of a Dallas strip joint, came into court refreshed, he said, by a good night's sleep and sustained by a Bible-reading course provided him in jail.

High Court Urges Equality In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Monday that congressional districts in each state must be mapped so as to give "equal representation for equal numbers of people" as far as practicable.

This drew a protest from Justice John M. Harlan that the high tribunal is placing "in jeopardy the seats of almost all the members of the present House of Representatives."

"Today's decision," Harlan said, "impugns the validity of the election of 398 representatives from 37 states, leaving a 'constitutional' House of 37 members now sitting." By his calculation, only 22 members elected from states at large, plus 15 others, would meet his interpretation of the majority's ruling.

The vote was 6-2, with Justice Tom C. Clark concurring in part and dissenting in part.

Leaders of both parties in the House of Representatives dissented promptly from Harlan's interpretation. Most of those questioned saw the majority ruling as fair and something which many had expected for some time.

Justice Hugo L. Black, delivering the majority opinion in which he was joined by five other justices, conceded that it "may not be possible to draw congressional districts with mathematical precision."

But he added: "That is no excuse for ignoring our Constitution's plain objective of making equal representation for equal numbers the fundamental goal for the House of Representatives. That is the high standard of justice and common sense which the founders set for us."

The ruling was the first dissenting with legislative apportionment since the court's 1962 landmark decree that federal courts have the power to decide the fairness of districting for state legislatures. Harlan was one of the dissenters in that ruling.

Georgia Specified

Monday's decision specifically calls for realignment of Georgia's congressional districts. There was no direct reference to the various appeals before the court on apportionment of state House and Senate seats.

Boyer said he appreciated the invitation and would plan to meet with Scranton "to devote as much time as you can yourself spend on this important matter."

Scranton, Boyer To Debate UC

HARRISBURG (AP) — Harry Boyer, president of the Pennsylvania AFL-CIO, agreed Monday to a face-to-face meeting with Gov. Scranton to discuss the governor's proposed unemployment compensation revision plan.

The governor proposed the meeting last Thursday. He said any such meeting should be with newsmen present.

Scranton's letter to Boyer said in part:

"I believe there ought to be a thorough discussion of all of the points of our proposals which have been challenged. The purpose of such a session would be to better inform the public as to the facts of the proposals and for that reason I feel the news media should be allowed to attend the meeting."

State News Roundup

Johnson's Scott Target

HARRISBURG (AP) — U. S. Sen. Hugh Scott, a candidate for re-election, looks toward a campaign against President Johnson this year and sees these as Republican weapons: foreign policy, Bobby Baker and GOP support of tax cut and civil rights legislation.

Communism is testing Johnson's resolution "all over the world," Scott said Saturday as he and his statewide running mates filed their nominating petitions in the state's election bureau.

He agreed with state party chairman Craig Truax that foreign policy probably would be the Republican's primary weapon.

Bucknell Gets New President

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Dr. Charles Henry Watts II Monday was named Bucknell University's 11th president.

Watts, 37, now is executive associate of the American Council on Education at Washington. He will succeed Dr. Merle M. Odgers, who is retiring on Aug. 1.

Watts is a graduate of Brown University and began teaching there in 1949, later becoming professor of English. He was dean of the college from 1958 until 1962, when he became director of The Commission on Administrative Affairs for the Council on Education at Washington.

Hocker To Buck GOP Powers

HARRISBURG (AP) — Rep. Blaine C. Hocker, chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee, indicated Monday that he would buck the Dauphin County Republican organization in the April primary.

Hocker, a nine-term legislative veteran, was passed over this year by Dauphin County GOP leader, Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, who threw the organization endorsement to Thomas P. Caldwell Jr., a newcomer to politics.

The legislator, however, said that he would file his nominating petitions and then do some grassroots testing to determine whether he had enough support to stay in the race. The deadline to withdraw is Feb. 25.

Quick Arrest

BRISTOL, Pa. (AP) — Police Monday arrested William Dahl, 37, of Philadelphia outside a cleaning store that had just been burglarized. He was charged with burglary, larceny and receiving stolen goods. Police said he admitted other burglaries in Lower Bucks County that netted loot of $28,000 in cash and merchandise.

Allentown Man Dies

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Ronald D. Sell, 23, Allentown, a passenger in his car which a friend was driving, was killed Monday when the vehicle crashed into a house. The driver, Royal Baude, 24, received minor injuries.

Charges Philly Shortchanged

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia is not getting its fair share of state education subsidies, state Rep. Austin M. Lee, R-Philadelphia, says.

Lee made his views known Saturday in a letter to Gov. Scranton about the governor's School Finance Survey Committee. He urged Scranton to correct what he termed inequities in distribution of state aid to public education.

According to Lee, two fallacies exist in the subsidy formula which result in significant financial discrimination against school children in the state's larger population centers.

"The assumption that it costs the same to educate every child, regardless of who he is or where or how he may live," is the first fallacy, said Lee. He said the second is the use of market value of real estate as the only measure of how much a municipality is able to pay toward the education of its children.

New Director

HARRISBURG (AP)—The appointment of Dr. J. Stanley Smith of Williamsport as medical director for the state public assistance program was announced Monday.

Smith's appointment to the $14,637 post, to take effect immediately, was announced by Arlin M. Adams, secretary of public welfare.

Anti-Smoking Bills Face Stiff Opposition In Congress

By Congressional Quarterly WASHINGTON (CQ) — Attempting to get anti-cigarette legislation through Congress is not going to be an easy task, now or in the foreseeable future, despite the Jan. 11 Government report on the hazards of smoking.

The economic stakes to important regions in the country are high when the total value of tobacco — both as a farm commodity and as a manufactured product — is taken into consideration.

Growing tobacco or manufacturing tobacco products is a significant commercial activity in 30 of the 50 states, all with representatives in Congress who will jealously watch their states' interests. Furthermore, 47 states benefit handsomely by stiff cigarette taxes, an important source of state revenue.

In addition, there are many strategically placed Senators and Representatives on key committees that can be expected to protect tobacco against adverse reactions to the charges of health hazards.

Agriculture Department figures show that tobacco was the ninth-ranking farm commodity in sales during 1962—3.6 per cent of all sales of agricultural products. In many states, tobacco accounted for a large percentage of cash receipts from farm income.

In North Carolina, the largest tobacco producing state, it accounted for 48.7 per cent of all farm commodity sales in 1962; in Kentucky it accounted for 39.6 per cent; in South Carolina, 29.3 per cent; and in Virginia, 20.1 per cent.

The importance of the tobacco industry to manufacturers is considerable. In 1962, the total value of manufactured tobacco products (including the immediate process of stemming and redrying) was $3 billion—with 83 per cent produced in the South.

Big Business

In North Carolina alone during 1963, the production of manufactured tobacco products accounted for $1.2 billion. In the same year, the value of manufactured tobacco products was $342 million outside the South.

Aided by the seniority system, there are some Southern Congressmen who will be in an advantageous position to protect tobacco interests.

Hearings began Jan. 29 in the House Agriculture Committee on a bill to conduct research into the quality and health factors of tobacco. Committee Chairman Rep. Harold D. Cooley (D-N.C.) represents a district with 10,241 tobacco farms, each growing at least 10 acres of tobacco. Also representing tobacco districts on the Committee are Reps. George M. Grant (D-Ala.), John L. McMillan (D-S.C.), Watkins M. Abbott (D-Va.), D. R. (Billie) Matthews (D-Fla.), Frank A. Stubblefield (D-Ky.), G. Elliot Hagan (D-Ga.), Paul B. Dague (R-Pa.) and Ralph Harvey (R-Ind.).

Including Chairman Cooley, the nine Members represent 37,000 tobacco farms from 9 of the 30 tobacco-producing states. It can not be expected that Cooley and his Committee will be very enthusiastic about any proposals that might discourage the sale of cigarettes, although they do favor funds for increased research.

Cooley said recently the Federal Trade Commission had no legal authority to require that every cigarette package carry a health warning. He called recent FTC proposals "absurd" and said: "I think someone in the FTC must be emotionally disturbed."

A number of legislative proposals calling for stricter advertising controls over cigarettes have been referred to the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. Although not as well represented, tobacco has its allies there too. The Public Health and Safety Subcommittee is headed by Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala.).

Rep. William Natcher (D-Ky.), who represents 6,222 tobacco farms in a state where the total manufacturing value of tobacco products was over $300 million in 1962 is a key member of the Agriculture Department Appropriations Subcommittee. The Subcommittee appropriates the funds for the extensive programs which research the means to improve the quality of tobacco and lower the cost of production.

Senate Anti-Smoking Bills

Bills, similar to those introduced in the House, are now before the Senate Agriculture, Commerce and Labor and Public Welfare Committees. Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.), Chairman of the Agriculture Committee, has tobacco allies in Sens. Olin D. Johnson (D-S.C.), Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.), Herman E. Talmadge (D-Ga.), B. Everett Jordan (D-N.C.) and John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.). Jordan is Chairman of the Agriculture Research and General Legislation Subcommittee which, if hearings are held, will handle the tobacco research bills.

Tobacco interests in the Commerce Committee are represented by Sens. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.), Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.) and Hugh Scott (R-Pa.). And Sen. Maurice Neuberger's (D-Ore.) bill, calling for a national education program to outline the dangers of smoking, will face the watchful eye of Labor and Public Welfare Committee Chairman Lister Hill (D-Ala.).

Considering the economic interests involved, and the certain Congressional opposition on some key committees, the likelihood of enacting legislation that would limit the sale and distribution of cigarettes is slim.

Sen. Goldwater is more confident in his race for the GOP presidential nomination.

He told reporters in Chicago that "the groundswell for his candidacy is evident all over the nation."

He said his strength was in the far west, midwest and south. The senator feels the strength of his candidacy will be decided in the California primary and he is confident that he'll win it.

Gov. Rockefeller, stepping up his campaign for the GOP presidential bid said this weekend that he thought Goldwater was "irresponsible" and "reckless." His derogatory remarks were aimed at Goldwater's statements that the Arizona senator would call for the Marines to turn on the water at Guantanamo when Castro turned it off.

Cigarette Tax Loss Worries State Officials

By Congressional Quarterly WASHINGTON (CQ) — While television commercials are asking viewers if they are "smoking more now and enjoying it less," many state and local officials are worried that Congress may tell the public to "smoke less now, and enjoy life more."

Cigarette excise taxes have been a source of considerable revenue for the states during the past 20 years, and any Congressional action that affected the sales of the $8 billion industry could raise financial havoc in some state treasuries.

Although the cigarette industry is centered in the southeastern portion of the United States, there will be no geographical limitation to the effect a decrease in smoking is likely to have on the 47 states and the District of Columbia, which tax cigarettes.

Whether it be legislation calling for health warnings on the outside of cigarette packs or the establishment of a national education program on the dangers of smoking, lower cigarette sales could mean the difference between a slim surplus or a modest deficit in a state budget. The cigarette taxes collected in 1962 by Pennsylvania amounted to 4.9 percent of all state revenue. In 1963, Pennsylvania collected $86,704 in cigarette taxes.

Importance of Revenue

State and Federal Governments compete for tax dollars. The states have relied more and more upon cigarette sales as a prime source of revenue. As states' expenses have mounted, state taxes on cigarettes have increased 135 per cent in the past 10 years. Federal taxes on cigarettes have increased 27 per cent during the same period. Today approximately one-half the price of a pack of cigarettes goes for state and federal taxes, and of the taxable portion, approximately 60 per cent goes to the Federal Government.

While the Federal Government in 1962 collected almost twice as much in cigarette taxes ($2.1 billion) as the states ($1.1 billion), the revenue for the states was twice as important. Tax revenue on cigarettes for the Federal Government in fiscal 1962 was 2.5 per cent of the $84.4 billion in budget receipts, while the $1.1 billion collected by the states was 5.3 per cent of the $20.5 billion collected in tax revenue.

Tax Revenues

If the states follow the lead of the Federal Government, they will look for a 3 per cent increase in cigarette consumption next year—the fiscal 1965 budget estimated $2.14 billion

The Lenten Story

BY WOODY ISHMAEL

THE LORD HATH NEED OF HIM

Passing through Bethpage and Bethany on the way to Jerusalem, Christ and His disciples came to the Mount of Olives. There, He sent two of them ahead into the city with instructions to look for a colt tied up and upon which no man had ever ridden.

"And if any man say unto you, Why do you do this? Say ye that the Lord hath need of him, and straight away he will send him hither." (Mark XI:3)

Sure enough, the two disciples found the colt tethered near a doorway, loosed him as directed and, though challenged by a by-stander, were permitted to lead him away. It was on this colt that Jesus made his triumphant entry into Jerusalem.

$2,800 Extra County Aid Approved For Barrett

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Commissioners yesterday agreed to give an extra $2,800 to Barrett Township to help complete a mile and a half stretch of Lake Road in Canadensis.

Roger W. Lindsey, Stanley Bender, and Lester M. Caruthers, Barrett Township supervisors, told the board that they had contracted to build the road

Master Builders To Get Next Planning Unit Seat

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Commissioners yesterday told representatives of the Master Builders' Association of Monroe County that one of its members "will be the first to be considered" when a vacancy appears on the County Planning Commission.

Daniel Wise, Louis Manzie, Doug Williams, and Harold J. Pine, Jr., represented the Master Builders.

Wise told the commissioners

Water Plant Advisors Named

EAST STROUDSBURG — Blair and Co. and Grandberry and Marache, Inc. of Philadelphia, was named financial advisors by East Stroudsburg Council for the borough's new water filtration plant.

The action was taken last night at a special meeting of council.

William Schnaitman, council president, said, "This action is necessary to keep the ball rolling for the filtration plant to be built near the reservoir in Smithfield Twp."

No Fee Disclosed

He added, "The fee of the advisor is not being disclosed at present as it is not in writing and there is always a chance for a figure to be lowered."

"I also would like to point out to the people in East Stroudsburg that the hiring of this firm is being done without any increase in water rents."

Beers Submits Low Bid For Road Work

BANGOR — J. H. Beers Inc. Bangor RD 2, contractor, submitted a low bid of $1,547,936 for reconstruction of 8.08 miles of route 100 between Fogelsville near Allentown and Pleasant Corner.

The job calls for widening the present concrete highway from 19 to 24 feet, and then black-topping the roadway. Included is the building of two concrete bridges and widening of five others.

Also plans call for special passing lanes on some of the long grades because of the heavy truck traffic. These add 12 feet, and give the highway at that point a width of 36 feet.

Another bid received in Harrisburg by the State Highways Department was a bid of $136,812 for bridge construction widening and resurfacing of Route 13049 and 13003 in Carbon County at Lehighton. Charles O. Yale Jr., Palmerton was the low bidder.

Price Says Reports Incorrect

CRESO — Wayne A. Price, secretary of the Barrett Municipal Authority, said yesterday that he did not suggest at a meeting last Thursday that a survey of sewer needs might be taken in the Price Drive, Laurel Pine and Oak Land areas.

He said a report in yesterday's Daily Record designating those areas was incorrect.

At a meeting of the Barrett Township supervisors last Thursday night, Price gave a report on authority discussions of the sewer survey.

"I said the members of the authority have been unable to agree that Albright and Friel, an engineering firm, make a survey at this time of the sewer needs in the whole township," Price said.

"No set areas have been mentioned or singled out."

"I would also like to clarify further that this survey is mainly to be made so that we can have a feasibility report on record with state and federal governments for the time when it will become necessary to have a sewer program in the township."

"This is not being done to put sewerage in at this time."

"I also note that others who spoke were quoted, however my remarks are in such a manner as to mislead the people and not give a true picture of what the municipal authority was created to do."

last year for about $30,000.

"We're now half done and we've spent $21,500," Caruthers said. "We've had to add drains and shoulders, something necessary that the original contract didn't call for."

Caruthers said that last year the commissioners had allocated $5,625 to Barrett for completion of the road, "but now we figure the project will cost $35,000 to $36,000."

that he and his organization thought a Master Builder should have been selected for a spot on the newly formed planning unit.

Stuart Pipher, a commissioner, said that the meetings would be open to the public.

"But policy will be set by the voting members of the commission," Wise said.

Commissioners Stanley B. Bader then said that in two years certain members of the planning board would finish their terms. He said that if one or more would vacate the position at that time, then there might be a spot open."

Staggered Terms

Lester Brown, the acting solicitor for the commissioners, noted that after initial terms, all terms on the planning board would be for six years. "They run different lengths at first so that people will leave the board at staggered intervals," Brown said.

Wise asked the commissioners if he could have a definite commitment on appointing a Master Builder to the board, and Williams added, "We want to keep the county beautiful—we want to stop the building of these little tiny houses around the county. What will they look like in 15 years?"

"We don't want a group to plan the county and come up with nothing but pretty pictures," Williams said. "There are more qualified men in the county than men of the Master Builders concerning knowledge of building."

Commissioner John Price noted that John Detrick was a builder. Detrick was recently appointed to the planning commission. He was told that Detrick was not a member of the Master Builders.

Price suggested that perhaps Detrick could join the association, thereby giving it a voice on the planning board.

"Without Political Ties"

"I would rather have a figure without political ties," Wise said. He noted that Detrick is a Republican committeeman in Smithfield Township.

Pipher then said, "In two years, when three terms expire, I think one of your members will be the first to be considered for any vacancy... but putting another member on the board is contingent on the fact that one of the present members will drop out. This is something we don't know."

Asked To Submit

Huffman was instructed to submit a bid for the unit, and the board asked William Reaser, chief clerk, to solicit another bid.

C. A. Nauman, chief assessor for the county, told the board that the current tax assessment is almost completed.

"It looks like there will be a $3,000,000 increase for the county this year. This is a $9,000,000 market value increase," Nauman said.

11 Deeds Filed At Courthouse

STROUDSBURG — Eleven deeds were filed over the weekend and yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeannette Batory, Monroe County Recorder.

They were Nelson and Lottie E. Whitmore, Stroud Twp., to the Pocono Motorcycle Club, property in Stroud Township; Stephen and Margaret J. Kayne, East Stroudsburg, to Leon and Ruth Zacher, East Stroudsburg, property in East Stroudsburg.

Also John B. L. Goodwin of Pilgrim's Ramble, Terres Basses, St. Martin, French West Indies, and Anthony Russo, 1 W. 81st St., N.Y.C. to John B. L. Goodwin, property in Coolbaugh Twp.

Also Jack and Alice Harrington, Paradise Twp., to Joseph Harrington, Paradise, property in Paradise; Jack and Alice Harrington, Paradise, to Alice Harrington, Paradise, property in Paradise.

Also Walter Olenick, executor of the will of the late John G. Hesch, Middle Smithfield, to Jack F. King, East Stroudsburg, RD 2, property in Middle Smithfield; Ivor Gohlke of Anaholink of Ivor Gohlke and Jose A. Moreta, Anaholink, property in Anaholink.

Also John G. and Dorothy J. Williams, Ross Twp., to Harrison J. and Carolyn Everett, Washington, property in Ross Twp.; Andrew W. and Janet S. Sevon, 60 Warren St., East Stroudsburg, to Louis J. Manzie, 409 Bryant St., Stroudsburg, property in East Stroudsburg.

Also Gard O'Hara III, executor of the will of the late Kathryn W. Barber, Paradise Twp., to Robert E. Irvin, Jr., and Doryss Joan Irvin, Paradise Twp., property in Paradise Twp.; Alvah M. Merwin, Mount Pocono, to Bessie Z. Roberts, Barrett Twp., property in Mt. Pocono.

"We have 3,500 more feet to reconstruct," he said.

The commissioners asked if an additional grant for completion of the project would be charged against 1961's allocated $5,625 toward the road.

"We would hope that we could get an additional grant plus this year's allocation," Caruthers said.

The commissioners then discussed the problem of Barrett's road and agreed to give an additional $2,800.

First Planning Meet

In other business, John Mills, acting chairman of the Monroe County Planning Commission, said that the first meeting would be held Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m. in courtroom number two in the county courthouse. The commissioners said they hoped they could attend. The meeting will be organizational.

The commissioners declared March 1-7 as Weights and Measures Week, in accordance with a national observation of the week.

The board then inspected the register and recorder's office in the courthouse. Mrs. Jeannette Batory, recorder, had said that the lighting was inadequate.

The commissioners took no action after inspecting the room.

Acting Solicitor Lester Brown said that he had written letters to surrounding counties asking about their vacation and sick leave policies. This is an initial move by the commissioners to set up a new program for county employees.

Welfare investigator Ray Sanniere was instructed to tell people who pick up surplus food at the distribution center on Bank Alley not to park in the Colonial Diner parking lot. A diner owner had complained of abuses of the parking lot last week.

William Huffman of Lawton Huffman Co., Inc., Marshalls Creek, told the board that the county home needs at least a new compressor for two refrigeration units.

He said that a wooden and steel reach-in refrigerator on the second floor needed a new compressor as did a walk-in type in the basement. Both units could be run off a new compressor.

He said that all new equipment for the walk-in would cost $305, a pipe to rid the walk-in of evaporator water would cost $47.50, and a new refrigerator on the second floor would cost $755.

The commissioners said that after an addition is built on the county home this year, they would review the possibility of replacing the equipment, but at this time they would like to see a new compressor for both units.

Asked To Submit

Huffman was instructed to submit a bid for the unit, and the board asked William Reaser, chief clerk, to solicit another bid.

C. A. Nauman, chief assessor for the county, told the board that the current tax assessment is almost completed.

"It looks like there will be a $3,000,000 increase for the county this year. This is a $9,000,000 market value increase," Nauman said.

Altemose, Butz May Bid For Assembly

STROUDSBURG — Former Monroe County Sheriff Jacob F. Altemose, and former county register and recorder Floyd Butz are circulating petitions for Democratic nomination as state assemblyman from Monroe County.

Altemose, who did not seek re-election for sheriff, retired from the office after completing 12 years. He also served the party as its chairman.

Butz served three terms as register and recorder. He failed twice since then to win public office, bowing to Mrs. Jeannette Batory, current register and recorder and later to Van D. Yetter, present assemblyman.

There are three Democrats circulating petitions seeking nomination and election as Democratic Party chairman in Monroe County.

Thomas Douglas, James Cadue and Donald Hunsicker were circulating petitions yesterday. However, Cadue was the only candidate to file his petition in the Monroe County Courthouse.

Hunsicker yesterday said he would file his today "sometime after 3:30 p.m."

It was reported yesterday that Parke Ungar's official petition to run for Republican State Committee has been filed in Harrisburg. His opponent is expected to be Mrs. Merlin (Mary) Fontanella.

Deadline for filing petitions for county or state offices is today at 4:30 p.m. Petitions for all county offices must be filed in the commissioner's office, Monroe County Courthouse. Petitions for state offices are filed in Harrisburg.

Eminent Domain

The many residents and landowners in the Pocono Mountain who have lost or will some day lose their land and buildings to some public body through the power of eminent domain should take a direct interest in the proposals of Governor William Scranton for a new eminent domain law in Pennsylvania.

He proposed a uniform eminent domain law which he said would "start to give a square deal to the small property owner."

Eminent domain is the legal and financial process by which the state, the county or other public bodies and utilities buy land or buildings from a private property owner through condemnation.

This legal power to take property from a citizen is based on the theory of private interest being subordinated in some cases to a valuable project for the public good.

The obvious danger and the frequent occurrence is dislocation, suffering and hardship of the individuals dispossessed. On the other hand, some property owners have profited unfairly from too generous jury verdicts and have taken advantage of the law to get more than just compensation.

Governor Scranton proposes to adopt "model legislation" which would strengthen and liberalize in some instances the Pennsylvania law on eminent domain.

New Payments Promised

In his speech Feb. 11 at the opening of the special session which will consider changes in the Pennsylvania Law on eminent domain, Governor Scranton said his proposed uniform code would allow the following new and more liberal payments for damages:

1. Owners of condemned property will be entitled to get 80 per cent of estimated just compensation within 60 days after filing of a declaration of taking.

"This will end forever the outrageous practice of holding property in limbo for months and even years while it is of no value to the owner and yet brings him no compensation from the condemning authority," Scranton asserted.

2. The state will pay damages for effects of business dislocation.

"The corner druggist or grocer who is required to move to another site to make way for an urban renewal project will at last be compensated for loss of the years of good will he has built up among his customers."

3. People forced to leave a residence or place of business they are renting will be given "a fair deal" through compensation for moving expenses and business dislocation damages, although not qualified for condemnation payments.

4. A land owner whose property values are depressed by a change of grade in a highway that crosses an abutting lot will be compensated for the loss.

5. A government or other condemning authority will be prevented from taking land and selling it at a profit. Unimproved property could not be resold for three years after condemnation without giving the original owner a chance to buy it back for the same amount he was paid.

6. Owners of properties damaged by cave-ins in the coal regions would be paid the value of their property before the damage if the property is taken for a federal urban renewal project.

These liberalized benefits for landowners were demanded by many lawmakers in return for their support of the legislation needed to start Project 70—which involves spending $70 million for acquisition of park and recreation areas.

If these more liberal payments can be incorporated in an eminent domain law fair to property owners and the condemning powers and the public purse, Pennsylvania citizens—those who lose property and those who gain its public use—will benefit.

Comment Of The Day

"It may not be possible to draw congressional districts with mathematical precision.

"That is no excuse for ignoring our Constitution's plain objective of making equal numbers the fundamental goal for the House of Representatives."

—Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black in his majority opinion that congressional districts must give equal representation for equal numbers of people.

Just Turned Out

WASHINGTON — Thank goodness the President of the United States and the President of Gabon have different ideas about economy. To economize, President Lyndon B. Johnson turns out lights. President Leon M'Ba turns out Congressmen.

The Chief Executive of Gabon, a former French territory on the western coast of equatorial Africa, dissolved the National Assembly because he said it was costing too much. He said it would be much cheaper to make him dictator.

It was cheap all right, and the Gabonese will find it gets cheaper and cheaper. There's nothing as cheap as an executive over-throwing the legislative branch of government and setting himself up as despot.

This is the kind of economy that any country, including three-and-a-half-year-old Gabon, can do without. It would be far better to have President Johnson turning out every light in Washington, even if it made the capital so dark that Senator Margaret Chase Smith couldn't see to read of all the cute things that could result if she becomes President.

(There was a picture the other day of the Maine lady campaigning in snowshoes.

Washingtonians are eagerly awaiting the day when she'll mope to her office on Capitol Hill with a team of huskies).

The thing that should cause Americans concern about these dictator take-overs, as in Gabon, is the way the people in the affected countries seem to react. They're nearly always reported as "cheering wildly" when a tyrant tells them he has just robbed them of democratic government.

The people of Gabon were depicted in news reports as going wild with joy when M'Ba told them he'd dispensed with the Assembly as an economy move. About the only thing they didn't do to show their appreciation was screaming him with chants of "M'Ba Ba Black Sheep Have You any Wool — to Pull Over Our Eyes?"

In Conakry, the capital of Guinea, the people were reported as "cheering wildly" when President Sekou Toure announced he'd dismissed the leaders of his ruling Democratic Party "to tighten government control over economic matters."

In Djakarta, the capital of Indonesia, the people were described as gratified when President Sukarno announced a ban on dancing in restaurants. There were no outcries when President Joa Gualart of Brazil imposed a ban on public kissing during a three-day pre-lenten "fun festival" in Rio de Janeiro.

If President Johnson tried to impose even a three-minute ban on public kissing it wouldn't be taken lying down. If he banned public kissing, LBJ might just as well ban Congress, too. Nobody including Mr. Johnson, could ever have gotten to Congress without public kissing.

A ban on it would not only destroy our Constitutional system of checks and balances, but leave everybody in political and social Washington with nothing better to do than shake hands.

To get back to the matter of President Johnson turning off the lights, I can't remember anything that brought me so many letters. Mostly they're from mothers.

Many of the women wrote: "I read where President Johnson says he's saving $2,000 a month on the White House light bill, but I rode my kids 100 miles — 200 miles — to see the White House. When we got there it was so dark they couldn't see it."

The letters contain many suggestions as to how the Executive Mansion could be illuminated without taking LBJ off his economy kick. One suggestion that occurs in many letters calls for the installing of meters into which tourists could drop coins to light up the White House.

This suggestion, in many letters, is augmented by ribaldry.

"A quarter," runs a typical suggestion, "would light up the front portion. Fifty cents would light up the entire facade, and seventy-five cents would light up Pierre Salinger."

A number of writers suggested what a dollar would light up, but I think we've gone far enough with this subject.

The Pennsylvania Story

By Mason Denison
HARRISBURG — For those residents of the state outside Philadelphia who have been clobbered with a Philadelphia traffic violation summons, the resolution now introduced calling for a legislative investigation of the vicious practice is of more than passing interest.

It should be of equal interest to others who may yet become victims. This is the prime text of the Philadelphia traffic ticket probe resolution sponsored in the House of Representatives by two Democratic lawmakers and two Republican lawmakers:

"Whereas, Preliminary evidence clearly indicates that a serious malpractice on the part of a person or persons within the City of Philadelphia has been perpetrated upon many of the citizens of Pennsylvania through the issuance of traffic violation citations to innocent citizens of the State who were not in Philadelphia on the dates specified; and

"Whereas, The sordid picture has been strikingly and clearly exposed by syndicated columnist, Mason Denison in a series of four articles appearing in some forty daily newspapers throughout the State on January 20, 21, 22 and 23 based on the written and sworn evidence of victims; and

"Whereas, The evidence since then of the widespread malpractice has mounted appallingly to indicate an almost wholesale issuance, seemingly at random, of false citations of traffic violations within the City of Philadelphia upon citizens of Pennsylvania, who, to cite a few instances, were bedridden at the time, deceased, out of State, or whose vehicle had been previously junked; and

"Whereas, Threats of arrest, withholding of license renewal and similar acts involving what might be termed 'fear of reprisal,' has forced many an innocent victim to unjustly pay his or her traffic fine; and

"Whereas, Isolated instances of such issuance of traffic citations through 'human error' could be understandable but the appalling volume statewide seemingly violently contradicts any such unintentional 'human error'; and

"Whereas, The volume of cases of incorrect, improper and unjust citations against Pennsylvanians, accumulated by Columnist Denison through daily increasing evidence contributed by readers throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who have been victimized; and

"Whereas, The citations issued by the City of Philadelphia require those innocent victims so cited to needlessly expend time, effort and their own moneys to obtain an affidavit attesting that they were not indeed in Philadelphia on the date cited, thus creating a most unwarranted and overbearing imposition upon the good citizens of Pennsylvania; and

"Whereas, The evidence accumulated so far is merely an indicator of the seriousness of the fraud-either intentional or unintentional — practiced by certain persons within the City of Philadelphia upon unsuspecting motorists throughout the State; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint five members of the House of Representatives to conduct an investigation into the alleged traffic ticket racket exposed by Columnist Denison on the part of the City of Philadelphia, to determine: (1) how this alleged malpractice started, (2) why it has been permitted to continue and flourish, (3) and manner in which it has been permitted to operate, (4) determination of those responsible for the malpractice itself, (5) determination of those who carried out the alleged malpractice, (6) determination of the funds derived from the alleged malpractice; and be it further

Resolved, That the investigation authorized by the House of Representatives place the blame for the conduct of the alleged traffic ticket malpractice on the part of a person or persons of the City of Philadelphia, recommend criminal prosecution, if warranted, and be it further

Resolved, That the committee may meet, hold hearings, take testimony and make its investigations whether the General Assembly is in session or in adjournment. It may issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman commanding any person to appear before it and to answer questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee deems necessary."

Hillbilly At Heart

Do things right or don't do them at all. That's what we figured the other evening when we made plans for an 8 a.m. appointment in New York City.

Take the 10:30 p.m. train out of East Stroudsburg and get to the big city in time for a good night's rest, we planned. Certainly would be a lot better than getting up in the wee hours after only a couple winks and meeting our friends with half-closed eyes.

So we took the 10:30. It was an Erie-Lackawanna that carried workers of the railroad to their jobs along the line to Hoboken.

Everything went smoothly. We arrived in Hoboken about 12:35 and rushed to get the Hudson Tubes to 33rd St., New York. But at this hour of the morning, service is not as frequent as mid-afternoon. So we waited a spell before a tube special docked underground. The time was about 1:15.

Still plenty of time to get over to the Big City, check in to a hotel and grab six hours of slumber.

We got on the subway, rested the suitcase on the floor and tossed our head against the hard backrest. In 15 minutes we would be underneath Gimbel's a half block walk to the Sheraton-Hilton and a nice bed.

It wasn't long before the subway made one stop, then another. But for the life of me the names seemed different than the last time we rode over to New York. At last the conductor shouted, "Journal Square."

Here we were in the heart of Jersey City. What a blow it was to a man's ego. Now we had to take the same subway back to Hoboken and start all over again. We did and got back about 2:30 a.m.

The conductor said, "Buddy, stay on this one and it will take you to the 33rd St. Station. We did, arriving in New York about 3:05.

We walked briskly to the Sheraton-Hilton and were calmly told that there was no sleeping space available. But he was kind. He got me a room at the Taft for the night. All that meant was grabbing a cab and going uptown. However, the cabbie decided to show me the sights of New York after dark and a normal 10-minute ride took well over a half hour. This was nearly 4 a.m.

By the time we checked in it was 4:30 a.m. and we still had the appointment at 8 a.m.

We made it back to the Hilton on the next evening around 9, knowing that you can take a mountaineer to the city but you can't take the mountaineer out of the invader.

The Allen-Scott Report

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — The Johnson administration is extending large-scale credit to Russia's Eastern European satellites for the purchase of U.S. grain.

Under a new policy approved by the White House, Undersecretary of State George Ball negotiated two little-noticed agreements this month for the sale of $90.9 million in U.S. agricultural commodities to Communist Poland on credit terms ranging from 18 months to 30 years.

The U.S. - Polish grain accords, which the State Department plans to use as a model for similar deals with Rumania, Hungary, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Russia, involve sales of wheat, cotton, edible oils, rice and tobacco.

The first agreement provides for interest-free grain sales of $30.7 million with a 10-year deferral of repayment and a 30-year period of reimbursement.

The second covers credit sales of $30.2 million with repayment by Poland in three years with no interest charge. In addition, Poland has agreed to purchase another $30 million in agricultural products from private U.S. traders in 1964.

These latter sales will be financed by private U.S. bank loans, guaranteed by the Export-Import Bank, a government lending agency. The loans are to run for 18 months and can be renewed at the end of that period. The interest rates on the private loans are to be negotiated.

The two agreements, signed for Poland by Deputy Foreign Trade Minister Franciszek Modrzewski, also carry a statement of policy "recognizing the desirability of expanding trade between Poland and the U.S."

These credits are the first of their kind extended by the U.S. to Communist countries. They break ground which could have far-reaching consequences.

In addition to entering into a new type of trade relations with the Soviet bloc, these transactions lay the basis for undermining our long-standing policy of opposing long-term credits to Red nations.

They also strike directly at this country's vehement objections to trade with Cuba.

Clearing The Way — President Johnson personally cleared the path for the State Department's granting of the "no-money-down, easy-term credit" to the Communist nations when he notified Congress recently that this new policy was in the "national interest."

The President's decision was transmitted in a letter to Speaker John McCormack, Mass., to meet a requirement written into the foreign aid appropriation by Congress last December. The aid rider makes it mandatory that the President rule that the extension of U.S. credit to a Red-ruled nation is in the national interest before it can be granted.

In addition to the Polish grain deal, the President's ruling covers all future grain sales the U.S. is now negotiating with other Soviet satellites and Russia.

The White House ruling already is causing a traffic jam at the Export-Import Bank and the State Department of representatives of other Communist governments seeking details of Uncle Sam's new easy credit terms.

Negotiations for the extension of credit for grain sales to Russia, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Hungary are now underway, and agreements may be announced at any time.

A reliable State Department source reports that Russia, after paying cash for its initial grain purchases, now wants credit terms in all future grain deals.

Fifth Column — A suppressed Defense Department report indicates evidence of a fifth column operating against U.S. soldiers during the recent riots in the Panama Canal Zone.

Prepared for a House Military Appropriations Subcommittee by Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus Vance, the report reveals that one sniper who shot at U.S. troops was a Panamanian citizen employed by the Panama Canal Company, stating:

"Ernesto A. Harrison, a Panamanian citizen employee of the Panama Canal Company who served with the U.S. Army July 8, 1952 to July 7, 1954, was reported by reliable sources to have been involved in the disturbances in Colon, January 9 to 12."

"When questioned on January 13, Harrison submitted his resignation. His personnel Action Form SF 50 states that he resigned while being investigated as a sniper in the border disturbances. Harrison has never acquired U.S. citizenship."

Four U.S. servicemen were killed in the riots and more than 40 others injured by sniper fire. Since the incident, the Panamanian government has freed all snipers arrested during the riots.

Dear Abby

Unforgettable!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You are my last hope. I am still looking for a man I met in LaCrosse, Wisconsin, during World War II. We only spent one evening together, but it was the most wonderful evening of my life. All I know is that he had "HER" tattooed on him and he's from Sioux Falls, South Dakota. I thank you.

CAN'T FORGET HIM

DEAR ABBY: He went that way.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married soon and I want a small, dignified wedding. I want to wear a suit and have selected a beautiful black suit, but everybody I mention it to tells me I shouldn't wear black because it isn't "proper." Who made up that rule? I realize that black is an unusual choice for a wedding outfit, but I look better in black than I do in colors (I am a silver blonde). Would it be terribly wrong to wear black? If other people can get married on horseback and under water, why can't I be married in black?

LIKES BLACK

DEAR ABBY: You can if you want to, but almost anything else would be more appropriate.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Alcohol Just Doesn't Mix

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Alcohol, apparently, is not a good mixer. The combination of alcohol and automobiles, for example, is definitely known to be dangerous and, all too frequently, a deadly mixture.

It has now been found that alcohol is a particularly bad mixer with any of the sleeping pills that contain barbiturates. Apparently, even a few drinks of rye, Scotch or gin, when followed by a moderate dose of barbiturates, have produced serious illness and even death.

Dr. Elmer V. Dahl, working in conjunction with a biochemist, Jack E. Wallace, at the Lackland Air Force Base in Texas, is investigating the reasons why the effects of alcohol and barbiturates can be so poisonous to man.

One Conclusion They have found that the barbiturates, when taken after alcohol, interfere with the excretion of alcohol from the body, and tend to affect the important centers of the brain that regulate breathing and the heart rate.

The chemical reasons for this dangerous combination are now being studied intensively. Actually, the chemical findings should not alter too much the intelligent person's determination not to try to mix these two un-mixables — alcohol and barbiturates.

REMEMBER THE ICE FOR BURNS

Burns are so frequent an occurrence in the daily running of a household that the newer treatment should be constantly emphasized and remembered.

The immediate application of ice or ice-cold water brings rapid relief of pain. In addition, it has been found that ice is beneficial in healing a burned area.

DEAR ABBY: This is for Gordy's wife, who made excuses to her friends for the "strange looking designs" on her walls, instead of admitting that her husband threw food around when he got mad. She said he threw a "potato fit" and tossed the creamed potatoes at her. My husband used to throw fits like that, too. He thought, because I came from a strict, Catholic family, and was taught that marriage was a cross I would have to carry until death do us part, that I would never leave him. But because I had to carry the cross didn't mean I had to let him crucify me on it. Well, he threw a kettle of hot chili at me. I called a witness and had him committed. Thank you.

Stories Behind Words

Old Guard

Napoleon I of France created the Imperial Guard in 1804. His object was to establish an elite military group and that is what he did. For the Imperial Guard was noted for its excellence.

The Guard distinguished itself in Napoleon's numerous military campaigns. It was this élite group that made the final charge at Waterloo, where Napoleon met his final defeat.

Several years before Waterloo, a recruiting force for the Guard was created. This force was known as the "Young Guard," and the Imperial Guard acquired the name "Old Guard."

By extension, "old guard" has come to mean any group that doggedly defends an old belief or custom — the conservative element of any organization.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Transplanting human eyes to make the blind see again is a relatively modern miracle, but there is an old, old miracle that is also a great gift, and that is the power to see the same old things through somebody else's eyes.

Take dress material, for instance. Sure we've all looked at it when the need arose for something special, and been bewildered by the variety of colors, patterns and fabrics. Bewildered but not particularly grateful — or even surprised.

Spending the morning shopping for material for Shirley to take back to Yugoslavia was, therefore, somewhat of a revelation. In Yugoslavia, the ready-made clothes hanging on the racks are impossible, and fabric in general is coarse.

On the other hand, dress-makers are ingenious, very, very skillful and inexpensive. A very good one will make two winter coats, matching skirts and an overblouse for the equivalent of $4. She has patterns available but for the most part does her own designing, and, in fact, has very little patience with any mis-conceived idea the customer might have as to the most effect style for the material.

Since she also designs clothes for Mrs. Tito, the average customer is quite content to leave the final decision up to her, and I must say it turns out very handsomely.

Food shopping is another interesting experience. In Yugoslavia, the meat is plentiful, good and inexpensive. However, vegetables vanish from the market except in season so that the winter fare is largely carrots and cabbage, fresh frozen from the ground, brought into the open air markets by peasants who, instead of overcoats keep adding layers of skirts and blouses as the cold deepens, topping it off with a sheepskin vest with the wool inside.

There are canned goods in the supermarket but since there are no pictures on the labels, and the contents are written in the Cyrillic alphabet, the non-Serbian can't tell what is what.

It gives a new dimension to sight when you can be amazed at the bolts and bolts of dress material, at the after bin of fresh vegetables and even strawberries, at consumer goods and snow plows.

Children Sacrifice Candy To Adopt Their Own Child

Newfoundland — A special mission project, started when the Children's Department of the Hemlock Grove Church School decided to give up their Christmas gifts and candy, has resulted in the beginning of a new friendship and a new understanding of the problems and sufferings of others.

The Children's Division, assisted by the adults, has "adopted" nine-year-old Tran Thi Van, a Vietnamese child whose story is one of dire need.

"Van's" father died last Summer after a long illness. Her mother and two sisters and brother existed on the proceeds of her mother's vegetable business until a fire took everything they owned.

Van's mother and older sister, who is 11, work each day picking flowers to support the family. Each earns 41 cents a day. The government gave the family enough money to rebuild their home, a palm-leaf structure—$17.85. It is furnished with a stove and one bed.

The $15 a month which is being sent by the Hemlock Grove church means more than food, education, clothing and medical care for Van. It also means that the rest of the family will live better, and they are being aided by others, also. Now Van's mother will be able to repay the $27 she borrowed to pay in full the funeral expenses of her husband.

The children are planning to send small gifts to Van and there will be an exchange of letters. There is much enthusiasm, already, since her picture arrived last week. She was chosen by the children, who were able to make their choice of country, age and sex. Already, they are concerned because she is so small — weighing only 45 pounds. She is three feet, eleven inches tall, and looks even younger than her nine years.

Four New Men On Session

Portland — Four new members of the session of the Portland — Mount Bethel Community — Presbyterian Church were ordained and installed at the morning worship service on Sunday: Olin Cramer and Paul Godshalk Sr. were ordained and Clifford Sebring and C. J. Kneeling were installed.

Legion Votes To Sponsor Girl At Meet

Newfoundland — The Auxiliary of Phillips - Zacharias-Phillips Post 539, American Legion, meeting at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Bartleson in Angels, voted to sponsor the attendance of a girl from Greene or Dreher Township at Keystone Girls State at Shippensburg in June.

The girl to be selected must be a student at the Wallenpaupack Area Joint School on Lake Wallenpaupack, and will be a member of the junior class from either of the two townships. She will be chosen by the auxiliary members.

Shut - in members were remembered with cards from the group. Poppies have been ordered, it was announced, and Eleanor Staph is poppy chairman for this year. Doris Bartleson, junior chairman, reported that boxes for the convalescent home will be made for Easter.

The unit now has 65 members, and need five more to reach their membership goal for this year.

There will be no meeting of the unit in March. However, the April 7 meeting will be concerned with planning for entertaining the Wayne - Pike County Council at the legion hall in Newfoundland on April 16. The unit meeting place will be announced.

WSCS Receives Thanks For Past Gifts

Delaware Water Gap — Letters of thanks for Christmas gifts were read at the meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church held at the home of Mrs. Raymond Postortra, East Stroudsburg, from the United Council of Church Women for the Allentown Hospital Christmas stockings; from the recipients of a sunshine basket; from the Deaconess Home in Philadelphia and from the 13 who had received Christmas baskets.

The meeting was transferred from the home of Mrs. Elmerdort Runyan whose brother had been injured in a fall. Mrs. John Jennings opened the meeting.

It was announced that the District President would be present at the April 14 meeting when members of the Portland WSCS will also attend. A covered dish luncheon will be held at the home of Mrs. Nelson Lightner Sr. on Feb. 21.

Mrs. Lightner, Mrs. Layton Osborne and Mrs. Runyan were named as a nominating committee.

After the meeting, Mrs. Postortra served refreshments to Mrs. Robert Richards, Mrs. Roy Carresella, Mrs. Jennings Sr., Mrs. Nelson Lightner Sr., Mrs. Elizabeth Blaine, Mrs. H. Baker, Mrs. George Court, Mrs. Robert Kaiser, Mrs. Charles Rapp, Mrs. Layton Osborne and Miss Nellie Burd.

You'll find there are usually about ten medium-sized carrots in a pound.

Community Concert Brings DeCormier's Folk Singers

East Stroudsburg — Robert DeCormier, director of the DeCormier Folk Singers who will present the third concert of the Pocono Community Concert Series here on Feb. 24 at 8 p.m. at East Stroudsburg State College Auditorium, is one of the most versatile of musicians.

He has made his mark as a composer, being represented in original scores for "The World of Sholem Aleichem" and the Kermit Bloomgarden production of "The Wall." He did the choral arrangements for "The Happiest Girl in the World" starring Cyril Richard, and the long-run hit "Milk and Honey." This season he represented on Broadway by Merrick's "110 in the Shade."

Last summer, DeCormier presented ten half hour musical television programs over BBC in England and in addition provided the background music for Charlton Heston's "Readings from the Five Books of Moses."

Joining DeCormier, is the stage director, David Thimmar who was responsible for staging the Bellefonte Folk Singers.

The DeCormier Folk Singers present the cultures of many lands with songs from England, Scotland, Ireland, Norway, Russia, Poland, French Canada, Africa and the West Indies. There is a group of American songs and spirituals of the American Negro.

A varied instrumental accompaniment and lighting to enhance the mood transport the audience from the fields of Africa to the Steppes of Russia to the hills of Tennessee.

Contribute To Fire Co.

Portland — At the meeting of the Ladies Aux. of the Portland Fire Co., a contribution was voted to the fire company. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Webb. Mrs. Bernard Potter and Mrs. Edward Muschok served refreshments to the 15 members present.

To Visit County Home

Stroudsburg — Members of the Junior Woman's Club will pay their annual visit to the Monroe County Home, leaving the Mansion House, Stroudsburg, at 6:30 p.m.

THE DAILY RECORD'S GOLD-STRIKE BOWLING CONTEST

$25.00 Cash Prize This Week

ANYONE CAN PLAY! ANYONE CAN WIN! ENTER TODAY!

ANSWER TO CONTEST NO. 44 APPEARS BELOW

"The following answers and pictures are certified correct by Lawrence K. Mason, Notary Public."

It's Easy!
Just determine correctly the number of pins knocked down in each photo. Enter score and sponsor's name in the proper box below. Do not add each frame. Strikes count 10.

FOLLOW THESE EASY RULES:
On this page are clues and pictures in the advertisements of sports-minded Pocono Area business firms. Simply determine the number of pins knocked down as a result of the action depicted in each picture. Enter that number in the corresponding box on the entry blank. Do NOT add the scores as you go along as in regular bowling. But totaled together your individual scores should equal the total score indicated. Strikes are counted as 10 and do NOT affect the score in the succeeding box. Fill in the rest of the entry blank. To the person getting the exact correct score in each box and complying with the rules will go the cash prize.

THIS WEEK'S ENTRIES MUST BE IN THE DAILY RECORD OFFICE OR POSTMARKED NO LATER THAN THURSDAY 4 P.M.

Anyone within the circulation area of The Daily Record except employees of this newspaper and members of their families are eligible. If more than one correct solution is received the prize money will be equally divided between the winners. If no correct answers are received an additional $50.00 will be added to next week's prize money. Until a total of $50.00 is offered. Decision of the judges is final and all contestants taking part agree to accept those decisions as a condition of entry. The name of the winner and pictures will be published next Tuesday. Watch for a new bowling contest each week in The Daily Record.

Clip along dotted line and mail or bring to The Daily Record office.

Five Games Set Tonight

STROUDSBURG — Stroud Union and Bangor make their final 1963-64 court appearances at home tonight as five games mark the Pocono-Slate Belt scholastic schedule. Both clubs have two road engagements remaining.

The Mountaineers of Stroud Union, winners of seven of 10 contests and 1-3 for the second-half of the Lehigh Valley League, is host to Lehigh's Indians who gained the verdict over Stroud Union in the first meeting of these teams Jan. 21. East Stroudsburg, 6-14 overall and 3-10 in the Lehigh-Northampton League, travels to Bangor where the Slators of Coach Bill Ponsyl seek their sixth straight triumph and 10th league win. Bangor is currently in second place with a 9-4 record and 12-5 overall.

Longest Streak
The five-game win streak of the Slators matches the longest of the season in the Pocono-Slate Belt teams. Pen Argyl earlier had won five in a row.

Bangor's skein includes triumphs over Northwestern, Wilkes, Palisades, Hellertown and Pen Argyl.

The Green Knights of Pen Argyl hope to get even in the Lehigh-Northampton League by downing Wilson Borough on the Warriors' hardwoods. Pen Argyl is 6-7 in the league and is all-even overall with a 9-9 slate. This battle also marks the last road game for the Knights of Coach Frank Vart.

Five in the area tonight are Pleasant Valley, Pocono Catholic and Wallenpaupack.

Twin City, Buck's Win YMCA Tilts

STROUDSBURG — Twin City and Buck's-East Stroudsburg Hardware last night scored decisive victories in the YMCA Industrial Basketball League.

Dick Lathrop wished the nets for 35 points and Tom Barrow and Charlie Chronister each added 24 to pace Twin City to a 146-91 rout over Chet's-Lanterman's.

All seven players for the winners reached double figures. The others were Ron Lauchner (23), Mel Fager and Bob Rentschler (14 each) and Jim Barniak (11).

Don Wescott swished in 40 points for Buck's which overpowered J. A. Reinhardt, 118-44. Also hitting double digits for the winners were Brian Farris (23), John Ferguson (22), Woody Moseller (19) and Harry Lewis (11).

Eastburg H. S. League

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Dusters won both games in opening action of the East Stroudsburg High School Basketball League yesterday.

Tom Balick netted 23 points to lead the Dusters to a 69-48 win over Shawnee. The Dusters also topped the Kid and his Court, 101-65.

Shawnee dropped its second game to the Kid and his Court, 76-70 as Monty Perfetti tallied 32 points. Frank Primrose scored 33 for the losers.

S-burg Firemen Lead In Bowling

STROUDSBURG — The Stroudsburg Fire Co. bowlers will carry a lead of 1,637 pins into their third match against East Stroudsburg Fire Co. on Feb. 23.

Stroudsburg won the first two matches by margins of 1,161 and 476 pins. Robert Ford turned in the high single of 216 and high triple of 563 for Stroudsburg in the last match between the teams.

Don Serfass turned in the high single for East Stroudsburg with 205 and Stroud rolled the high triple of 569.

Race Track Clerk's Error Nets $1,000

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—A mutual clerk's punching error netted him $1,017 Saturday.

A Santa Anita Park spokesman told it Monday:
The clerk punched the wrong number—5—on a customer's $10 win ticket for the San Luis Rey handicap.

The customer refused the ticket so the clerk was stuck with it. Then horse No. 5—Inclusive, a longshot—won, paying $205 for each $2 bet.

The clerk collected a gross of $1,027—or a net of $1,017 after paying for the ticket. He wasn't identified.

In the crowd of more than 50,000, only 13 $10 tickets were sold on Inclusive.

Nicklaus Top Money Man In 1964 Golf

DUNEDIN, Fla. (UPI)—Jack Nicklaus retained his overall lead in professional golf money earnings for 1964 Monday as results of the Tucson Open tournament produced little effect on the list of the top 10.

Nicklaus has won $8,700 to date, winning one of the two tournaments in which he has entered. Defending champion Arnold Palmer, who has failed to win a tournament in four starts, is second with $8,059 and Paul Hareney, winner of one out of two is third at $7,595.

Completing the top 10 in fourth are Juan Rodriguez, fourth at $7,500, Gene Littler fifth at $7,318.75, Don January sixth at $6,088.75, Bob Rosburg seventh at $5,879.17, Art Wall eighth at $5,500, Julius Borus ninth at $5,375.00, and Al Geiberger 10th at $5,284.37.

Jacky Cupit earned $4,000 for his victory in the Tucson Open but did not crash the ranks of the top 10.

Australians Run Feud With USLTA

MELBOURNE (UPI)—The Lawn Tennis Association of Australia sent another chilly blast across the Pacific Ocean Monday in its running feud with the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Norman Strange, president of the Australian group, accused U.S. officials of "aiding and abetting" Australian players to disobey the LTAA in its stand against overseas travel prior to March 31.

"We are greatly disturbed that the USLTA is not cooperating with the LTAA in refusing to permit Roy Emerson and Ken Fletcher to play in the American indoor championships," Strange told a meeting of the LTAA Monday night.

The LTAA has refused to sanction foreign travel for leading players before March 31, hoping to keep them home to compete in local tournaments. One reason for this is to generate further interest in tennis and encourage youngsters to concentrate on the game.

Loyola, Providence Accept At-Large Tourney Berths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Defending champion Loyola of Chicago and Providence, winner of the 1963 National Invitation Tournament, were among nine schools to accept at-large invitations Monday to compete in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Basketball Tournament.

While the NCAA quickly lined up nine of its 10 at-large teams with unusual speed, NIT officials chose DePaul, Pittsburgh and New York University as the first of 12 teams to compete at Madison Square Garden in New York March 12-21.

Loyola, Providence and the others will be joined by 15 conference champions in the 25-team NCAA field leading to the semifinals and finals March 20-21 at Kansas City. If the Ivy League champion does not wish to compete still another at-large representative will be selected.

Villanova-Providence
Villanova, 19-2, and Providence, 16-3, will meet March 9 at Philadelphia in the University of Pennsylvania's Palestra according to Villanova sources.

The East regionals will be played at Philadelphia, the Midwest at Evanston, Ill., the Midwest at Dallas and the West at Eugene, Ore.

Other competitors in the East regionals will be the champions of the Middle Atlantic, Yankee, Southern, Atlantic Coast Conference and the Ivy League. The only title decided is the Middle Atlantic won by Temple.

Midwest Regionals
Loyola, 15-3, and Louisville, 14-6, will play in the Midwest regionals with the Mid-American, Ohio Valley, Southeastern and Big Ten Conference winners.

Creighton, 18-5, and Texas Western, 19-2, will compete in the Midwest regionals with the Southwest Conference champ, one more at-large team and the winners in the Missouri Valley and Big Eight Conferences.

Oregon State, 21-3, Utah State, 17-3, and Seattle, 16-4, will play with the Western Athletic Conference and West Coast Conference champs and the Big Six winners.

Announce Choices
Ernie McCoy, athletic director at Penn State and chairman of the Eastern selection committee, announced the choice of Villanova, Providence, Loyola and Louisville.

Bernie Shively, athletic director at Kentucky tournament committee chairman, announced the selection of Creighton, Texas Western, Oregon State, Utah State and Seattle.

It was the ninth time in 11 years that Seattle has been in the tournament.

Most of the first rounds will be played either March 7, 10, or 11.

Given Byes
The winners advance to regionals March 13-14 at Raleigh, N.C., Minneapolis, Wichita, N.C., and Corvallis, Ore. Teams given first round byes are the champs of the Atlantic Coast, Southeastern, Big Ten, Missouri Valley, Big Eight, Big Six and West Coast Conferences.

In the NIT to be played at New York, DePaul, 16-2, Pittsburgh, 14-6, and New York University, 11-5, were the first 12 teams to be announced. Others will be selected periodically.

For Pro Football

1 Commissioner Predicted By Foss

WASHINGTON (AP)—Commissioner Joe Foss of the American Football League predicted Monday that eventually the AFL and National Football League will get together under a single commissioner, just as baseball has done.

Foss predicted also there would be an inter-league playoff, similar to baseball's World Series.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who has rejected such predictions in the past, just ignored them Monday in testimony before the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee.

Rozelle, however, in response to a question, said he considered that the National League is not "in the mood" to be thinking of any championship play with the AFL.

Downgrade Interest
He said the NFL is concerned that such a playoff might downgrade fan interest in the league's own post-season title game.

However, both commissioners were united in their support of the legislation before the subcommittee, which would give to professional football, basketball and ice hockey the same antitrust exemption now enjoyed by baseball.

They were joined in endorsing the bill by the commissioner of U.S. football's minor league, George T. Garoff of the United Football League.

Farm Agreements
Garoff of Columbus, Ohio, said the bill would aid efforts to work out suitable farm agreements with the two big leagues, similar to those in baseball, where college graduates who couldn't make the AFL or NFL teams could receive experience in the minor leagues.

The only dissenting voices before the subcommittee came from the NFL Players Association.

Creighton Miller of Cleveland, lawyer for the players group, urged that the bill be amended to provide more protection for the players.

As now contemplated, he said the bill would "take away the right of the players to resort to litigation under the antitrust laws which they now have and which I feel they should continue to have with certain limitations."

Miller Backed
Miller was backed by two players, defensive end Ordell Brasse of Baltimore, president of the NFL players Association and Bernie Parrish, a Cleveland defensive back.

Brasse said the owners need some relief, but legal restraints should be established, while Parrish said the bill definitely would weaken the players' position unless some safeguards are inserted.

Rozelle said 41 NFL franchises had failed "before we developed our present rules for insuring a well-balanced league."

He said it is essential to maintain this system because "a weak franchise is a problem not just for the franchise holder, but for every other franchise in the league."

The NFL's player reserve clause, Rozelle said, is the least restrictive in the history of sports.

Foss used similar arguments in supporting the bill.

Appling In Hall Of Fame; Elected On Second Ballot

BOSTON (AP)—Luke Appling, the most durable shortstop in major league history who batted over .300 in 16 of his 20 seasons, was elected to Baseball's Hall of Fame Monday.

"Old Aches and Pains" breezes into the hallowed halls of Cooperstown, N.Y., on an unprecedented second ballot, the results of which were announced by Hy Hurwitz, secretary of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Appling, who established a big league record of 2,218 games at short, drew 189 votes on the 225 ballots submitted by authorized BBWAA members. Seventy-five per cent of the votes cast, or 169, was needed for election.

Right-handed pitcher Charles (Red) Ruffing, who gained his acclaim with the New York Yankees, had 181 votes but was not elected. Rules of the second ballot specify that if more than one player got over 75 per cent, only the leader would be admitted.

"Heavily Proud"
"Wonderful, I'm really proud said Appling from his Atlanta home where he is awaiting the word to report to spring training as coach of the controversially clouded Kansas City Athletics.

"Someone asked me after I missed on the first ballot how I would feel if elected on the second," Appling said.

"I told him I don't care if I made it on the second, third or 40th or have to crawl in on my hands and knees. It's a great honor."

"This makes up for never having been on a pennant winner or in a World Series."

So the Atlanta schoolboy who once idolized Ty Cobb joined his hero, the 39th player to be voted into the Hall of Fame by the baseball writers. Appling spent his entire career with the Chicago White Sox.

An additional 62 have been chosen by the committee on veterans, considering only those players who have been retired from active competition more than 20 years.

Last month when 201 ballots were received on the first vote, no one got the required 151. Appling had 142, Ruffing 141.

Under the rules of the second balloting, the names on the top 30 vote getters among 59 named the first time around were mailed to eligible BBWAA members of 10 years' minimum active service. These electors voted for five or fewer players on that list.

Trips to the foul line are hardly among the more spectacular phases of basketball, but there are times that this usually dull aspect lends interesting data to a game.

There were two such instances last week, for instance. Stroud Union's Mountaineers last Tuesday night made but only one trip to the foul line during the entire game against Palmetton. Although the lone shot was missed it did not have any bearing on the eventual outcome as the Mountaineers bowed, 69-44.

But in this day of fast-breaking, sometimes razzle-dazzle style of play, the commitment of only one foul by a team must be some sort of a record—although there is nothing official to note that such is the case. It's a safe bet that it at least is a court record.

One the same night in a game between Pius X of Roseto and Blairstown, N. J., the Jerseyites swished in 22 shots from the foul line in 23 attempts! This phenomenal feat is unusual even in the pro game. It's one that cannot be topped, only tied — by anybody, anywhere, anytime.

But the Royals of Pius X turned in a splendid performance of their own from the charity stripe, netting 25 of 30. And with Pius X the winner by 11 points, the Royals were forced to hit for better than .500 from the foul line. They did, indeed, do much better than that.

Everytime Dave Turtzo of Pen Argyl scores a point he sets a new school record. The first player in Pen Argyl history ever to reach 1,000 points during a career, now holds the new Lehigh-Northampton League scoring record for one season with 421 points. Including the exhibition games, Dave has tallied 590. He is anxiously looking forward to a collegiate career — and with his high academic standing, Dave can practically name the school of his choice.

A meeting of the Varsity "E" Club Thursday night in East Stroudsburg High School will feature movies of the Wichita-Tulsa football game which Tulsa won to claim the Missouri Valley Conference championship. Harold Myers, former Eastburg grid flash, scored one touchdown in that game and threw a key block which allowed Wichita to score the winning touchdown. The meeting will start at 8 p.m.

Pocono Crest at Pocono Pines again plans to hold another football school this year from June 21-26. Already lined up for the session are professional players Fuzzy Thurston, Ray Nitschke and Roger Leclerc. Quarterback Bill Wade of the Chicago Bears is another who may appear at the camp.

"If all goes well," says Carl F. Galow, director, "we plan to offer several scholarships to the area high schools to promote local interest."

The newly-organized Varsity "S" junior basketball program officially gets underway tomorrow night at 6:30 in the Stroud Union gym with the Celtics playing the Globetrotters. Messier's will play the Royals in the second game.

Paul Lim is commissioner of the five-team league which is comprised of 70 players of the seventh and eighth grades.

'Compel' Finley To Sign Lease?

CHICAGO (UPI)—Kansas City Athletics owner Charles O. Finley said Monday night he might be "compelled" to sign a lease for his team to play in Kansas City but he is willing to fight baseball in court for his rights.

Finley charged that Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., had attempted to intervene in his attempt to negotiate a lease for his ball club because of "politics."

The A's owner disclosed that he has asked American League President Joe Cronin to stipulate that Friday's American League meeting will consider his application to move to Oakland, Calif.

Blames "Politics"
Finley, in a lengthy statement, charged that Symington's

"The chief reason that Kansas City's political figures are insisting on more than a two-year lease is to avoid its being an election issue," he said.

Finley also challenged Symington's statement that he had been offered the "best lease" ever proposed to a baseball owner and said he "inherited" from the late Arnold Johnson, previous owner of the club, a better lease because it had a minimum admission clause which "gave him . . . the right to cancel at the end of each year."

"Good Will"
"The city egged me to take out this clause and assured me that the fans would appreciate my voluntary gesture," he said.

"In an effort to gain good will I bought the story. The moment I took it out, the attendance dropped 200,000." Finley also said he had spent $111,000 to improve the Kansas City stadium, which he said was in "a disgraceful, dilapidated condition." He said the "city fathers" promised the money would be returned to him, but they have not done so and have also refused his offer of a firm two-year lease.

Art Wall Wins At Maracaibo
MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—Veteran Art Wall, a former Masters champion from Pocono Manor, Pa., came from one stroke off the pace Sunday and took a three-stroke victory in the Maracaibo Open Golf Tournament, first stop on the Caribbean tour.

Wall stroked a final round 71, one under par, and finished with a 280 for the 72 holes over the Maracaibo Country Club course.

Defending champion Jim Ferree, who entered the final round in a tie for first with young Jay Dolan, Leicester, Mass., blew to a final round 75 and finished second at 283.

Eyes On New Skipper

Yankee Rookies Hear Yogi Berra

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP)—All eyes were on Yogi Berra Monday as the New York Yankees opened their spring instructional school for rookies.

There were 50 players, 10 coaches, including the new pitching coach, Whitey Ford, special batting instructor Joe DiMaggio, General Manager Ralph Houk and former general manager Roy Hamer.

But the attraction at Dowdy Stadium was the stumpy, little guy who was making his debut as Yankee field leader.

The question on everybody's mind was, "How will Yogi do as manager?"

Judging by the first day, he won't do badly.

Yogi Nervous
His craggy face more lined than usual, Yogi admittedly was nervous as he gathered the Yankee farmhands together out behind second base and acquainted them with the Yankee way of doing things.

"I woke up this morning with butterflies in my stomach," Yogi said afterwards, "but I feel better now. I was wondering what I was going to say to the kids. But I turned out than I expected. I think I got the message across to them."

What did you tell them, Yogi? "Well, I welcomed them to Hollywood," he grinned. "Then I told them what was expected of them."

"We got you all here for a purpose," I told them. "We feel that you all have a chance to become future Yankees. If we didn't you wouldn't be here."

Did you set up any rules? "Oh, yeah. I talked to them more or less about their behavior. Both on and off the field. Then I set up a curfew. The Yankees have always had a curfew."

The squad consists mostly of Yankee farmhands. There are a few veterans among them, however, such as pitchers Bill Stafford, Bud Daley and Al Downing, who are here for special instruction.

Win Way Back
Daley, virtually inactive because of an arm operation last April, must win his way back on the parent club.

Berra spoke highly of two young pitchers, right-handers Pete Mikkelsen and Jimmie Marrujo. Mikkelsen was 11-6 with a 1.47 at Modesto last year. Marrujo, drafted from the Chicago Cubs' organization, was 6-0 at Moultrie.

Yogi was especially pleased with the physical appearance of Stafford, who shed 21 pounds since the World Series. The extra weight was one of the causes for his disappointing 4-8 season.

One who expected to get a lot of work is Jake Gibbs, the former football player who has been converted from an outfielder into a catcher. The Yankees gave Gibbs a $106,000 bonus two years ago.

"I think Jake will make the club as a third string catcher," Yogi said. "I like his determination."

WVPO To Air Yankee Games

STROUDSBURG — Final arrangements to carry the New York Yankee baseball games over Radio Station WVPO for the 13th consecutive season have been completed, according to Chester S. Miller, general manager, and Edward J. Somers, sales manager.

Exhibition games will emanate from Florida starting April 4. Regular season games will start April 14 when the Yanks play the Boston Red Sox at Yankee Stadium.

Nash Paces Kentucky

LLEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Colon Nash added another record to his long list Monday night as he led Kentucky to an easy 104-73 Southeastern Conference basketball victory over Vanderbilt.

Nash scored 32 points, played a brilliant defensive game, stole the ball at least a dozen times and almost singlehandedly controlled rebounds on the offensive boards.

The victory moved Kentucky into undisputed possession of first place in the conference with a 9-2 record and wiped out Vanderbilt's chances for winning the title.

No Injuries In 2-Car Crash

STROUDSBURG — No one was injured in a two-car accident on Rt. 196, two miles north of Stroudsburg, in Stroud Township Saturday at 12:45 p.m.

State Police from the Stroudsburg sub-station reported William L. Hopkins Jr., 25, of Fairlawn, N. J. lost control of his car and went into the yard rails when a car operated by Myrtle Bowman of Stroudsburg RD 2, pulled out in front of him at an intersection.

ment will have a theme of "live, work and play" in the Poconos. It is scheduled for publication Sunday, April 26.

The Chamber of Commerce will participate with the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau in preparation of editorial copy to be run in the supplement describing the resort, industrial and living and recreational aspects of the Pocono Mountains.

Might Get Aid
J. L. Cohen, president of the chamber urged the board to participate in "this unique opportunity to advertise the Pocono Mountains across the country."

He said the chamber might be able to get $1,400 in industrial promotion aid from the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Agency.

The chamber board of directors also voted to spend $157.50 for an advertisement in the special Progress Edition of The Daily Record to be published Feb. 29.

Cohen suggested that the chamber seek through this advertisement to interest new firms and individuals in the work of the 14 active committees of the chamber.

Cohen asked the chamber's new legislative committee to consider, investigate and propose chamber positions on local and area township, borough and county laws and ordinances which affect "the economic climate of the Pocono Mountains."

He said the YMCA is an important community function because of its Christian concern for all people, regardless of race, color or creed.

New officers elected at the meeting were Atty. Dotleff A. Hansen, president; Francis R. Drake, first vice president; Walter H. Sebring, second vice president; Dr. Ray A. Baird, and Arthur M. Tronger, treasurer.

Also introduced at the meeting were Miss Elizabeth G. Martin, Monroe County probate officer; Esther Boughton, Jean Wilson, YMCA office personnel.

Serving on the dinner committee were William Moran, chairman; Mrs. Alberta Yutz, and Francis Drake.

Patricia Ann Ungemach of the Stroud Union High School music department sang and was accompanied on the piano by Diane Flagler. Barbara Sleep played organ music during dinner.

The invocation was given by Rabbi Bernhard Presler. The Rev. J. William Giles, pastor of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, gave the closing prayer and benediction. The Rev. William F. Wunder, pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church in East Stroudsburg, said the induction service.

Pierce Harley, business secretary, announced he is compiling a written and pictorial history of the 50 years the county YMCA organization has been in existence.

Harley said records for the years from 1924 through 1932 are missing and urged anyone with information about YMCA activities for these years to contact him.

THE POOR GUYS
BARDSTOWN, Ky. (AP) — Volunteer firemen didn't even get to hold their checks long enough to take them home this year.

At the annual banquet where checks for the year's work are passed out, the firemen were called to a blaze and the checks went to the wives.

Barrett GOP Voters Meet
MOUNTAINHOME — John Nauman and Mrs. Lydia Christensen will preside at a general discussion meeting for registered Republican voters of Barrett Township, Tuesday, at 8 p.m. in the Barrett branch of the YMCA.

William Post On Dean's List
BLOOMSBURG — William H. Post of Mt. Pocono is one of 76 students who recently qualified for the dean's list for the first semester and has had an accumulative average of at least 3.0 while attending State College as a freshman, according to John A. Hoch, dean of instruction at the college.

Work Of Monroe Y Lauded; New Officers, Board Named
STROUDSBURG — Dr. Eugene P. Powers, chairman of East Stroudsburg State College's education department, lauded the work of the YMCA of Monroe County at its 50th annual dinner-meeting held recently in the YMCA in Stroudsburg.

Dr. Powers said the YMCA stands for the youth it serves but is a complete community service in that its programs include people of all ages.

He said the YMCA is an important community function because of its Christian concern for all people, regardless of race, color or creed.

New officers elected at the meeting were Atty. Dotleff A. Hansen, president; Francis R. Drake, first vice president; Walter H. Sebring, second vice president; Dr. Ray A. Baird, and Arthur M. Tronger, treasurer.

1 Injured In Wind Gap Accident
WIND GAP — One person was injured slightly over the weekend in Wind Gap when a car driven by Nicolas Capone, 50, of 439 Lehigh Ave., Wind Gap, hit a house.

Leo Reinhardt, Wind Gap police chief, said that Capone was travelling south on Alpha Road at 12:05 p.m. when a truck in front of him stopped to make a left turn onto Liberty St.

Capone swerved to the left to avoid hitting the truck, lost control of the car, and struck a house owned by Frank Cortez of 503 Alpha Road.

A passenger, Nancy Finelli, of Lehigh Ave., Wind Gap, received a bruised and cut forehead and a damaged index finger of the right hand. She was not treated at the time.

Also riding in the car with Capone were his wife Mary, and Lydia Quinn and Mary Finelli, both of Lehigh Ave.

Reinhardt estimated damages to the house at $300. He said that the car had a damaged hood and right head light, and drove away under its own power. He did not estimate damages, but said the investigation will continue.

Man Charged With Theft At Mikels
STROUDSBURG — Carl Nagle, 55, of Malvern allegedly stole a car from Mikels Motors Inc. of Stroudsburg Wednesday between 5:30 p.m. and 9:30 a.m.

According to State Police of the Stroudsburg substation, Nagle entered the garage through a window which he broke. He then took the keys to a 1961 car.

Nagle was apprehended by Philadelphia police Thursday when they stopped the stolen car to question him about not having a current inspection sticker.

It was then that police learned that the car was stolen.

Nagle was brought before Justice of the Peace Mrs. Ruth Miller of Stroud Township Friday and he waived the hearing. He is being held in Monroe County Jail pending court action.

Ball has not been set, but will be set by President Judge, Fred W. Davis of Monroe County Court.

Hospital Halts Cigarette Sales
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jefferson Medical College and Medical Center has banned the sale of cigarettes in both institutions. Some 2,000 nonprofessional employees received slips in their pay envelopes saying: "Smoking has been shown to be inconsistent with good health habits; therefore, cigarettes will not be sold on the premises."

Truax Raps Opponents Of Jobless Bill
HONESDALE, Pa. (UPI) — Republican state Chairman Craig Truax said over the weekend that opponents of Gov. William W. Scranton's proposals for overhauling the state's unemployment compensation program are "condoning continuance of a bankrupt system."

Truax, in a talk prepared for delivery before a dinner meeting of the Wayne County Republican Committee, said the controversy surrounding the governor's program submitted to the legislature this week is "benefitting the governor's program of responsible action."

"The violent personal attacks upon the governor, coupled with charges which insult common sense, have aroused the people's desire to get the facts," he said.

"Those who are irresponsibly opposing reform are painting themselves into a corner. Their course of action condones a bankrupt system which threatens the security of workers who need help in times of unemployment."

Truax said the present "red ink" operation of the state's unemployment compensation fund is blocking the state's efforts to bring new industries into Pennsylvania, and reform was needed to "keep our economic house in order."
